

Autobiography – EC Candidate Application

My journey with FCBCLA began in 2004 when I was invited to church as a college student. It was in Pastor Chris Tomokiyo's Sunday School class that I first seriously began studying the Bible. Through studying God's Word, I came to understand the Gospel and made the decision to surrender my life to Jesus. I was baptized during my junior year of college and have been learning and growing here ever since.

FCBCLA has remained our family's spiritual home. In continuous prayer, my husband Pete and I have continually sensed God's leading for us to stay rooted and serve this community as He desires. We deeply value the church's commitment to biblical teaching, intergenerational discipleship, and global missions—convictions that have anchored us through various seasons of life and ministry.

Over the years, I've had the privilege of serving with both the English-speaking and Chinese-speaking congregations through various events and mission trips—including Hong Kong with the SOAP team, Arizona with HSMT, and Mexico with Amor. I've also served in a range of ministries such as Annex (as a counselor), JOY Ministry (as a small group host), and have participated in various committees and ministry areas, including the Women's Ministry Team, the Nominations Committee, and the Business Board. Each role has moved me forward in seeing how God works through His provision, taught me to rely on the Holy Spirit for wisdom and discernment, and deepened my understanding of God's love of all parts of his church body. Serving across both language groups has also given me a greater appreciation for the beauty and complexity of our multilingual, multigenerational church.

Professionally, I bring experience as the co-founder and CEO of a small business. I believe the operational, financial, and compliance responsibilities I have handled are an asset to the Executive Council's mission to govern, oversee, and steward the church's ministries and resources with faithfulness and wisdom. I believe God has gifted me with administration, discernment, and faith, and I am committed to using these strengths to serve FCBCLA well.
